WITH FEAR AND TREMBLING

Chamberlain, S. D., Waits Break of an Ice Gorge.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 20.—The Missouri river, at Chamberlain, S. D., has risen four inches, but there is no indication of a break in the ice gorge at Little Bend, sixty miles above. The river here has regained a half foot of its three-foot fall, indicating that the tributary creeks are active. The danger depends on whether the gorge goes out suddenly or slowly. If the former, it will level everything in its path.

CALLED CHAMBERLAIN A LIAR

Lively Passages in British Parliament

Irish Leader Suspended from Commons.

Dillon Spoke up for the Boers

LONDON, March 20.—In the House of Commons today John Dillon, leader of the anti-Parnellite party, was suspended for calling Colonial Secretary Chamberlain a damned liar, in the course of a debate on the South African war.

Chamberlain was replying to a speech by Campbell-Bannerman, in which the latter had condemned the government's policy of cloaking conditions at Capetown. He demanded full explanations, and also protested against the slanders on Liberal critics for party purposes. Chamberlain, in his reply, said, "where, above all else, should one look for malignant slanders but across the table." This remark occasioned much disorder. Chamberlain was concluding with a hopeful reference to the war, when Dillon interrupted by shouting, "Boers who are fighting against their country are traitors." "You are a good judge of traitors," retorted Chamberlain, and prolonged disorder followed. Dillon appealed to the speaker, asking him if that was parliamentary. The speaker upheld Chamberlain, and Dillon shouted: "I will tell the honorable gentleman he's a damned liar." His suspension then followed. It will last a week.

Claims to Have Certain Proof of Story

LONDON, March 20.—A well-dressed stranger called at the American embassy today, and demanded to be permitted to see Ambassador Choate. As Choate was not in, the stranger left a bundle of sealed papers for the Ambassador's perusal.

YOUTHFUL CRIMINALS ESCAPE

The loss on the dormitory is $27,000.

Demurrer In Gilbert Bank

A demurrer was today filed in the suit brought by T. M. Hurd vs. Ilma B. Hurd et al. The plaintiff's attorney demurs to the answer of Mrs. Hurd, and is to the effect that not sufficient grounds for defense were stated. It is also asked that in relation to the services alleged to have been performed by defendant, that the nature of the services be more specifically set forth, together with the dates. It is asked that all material parts of the complaint be stricken out.

Judge Boise has sustained the demurrer against the petition of H. B. Thiesen for judgment of his claim for $554.72, due him as temporary receiver of the Gilbert Bros. bank. In his amended petition he set forth the order of Judge Bellinger, ordering that he be paid $250 for his services as receiver, and the actual expenses incurred by him in accounting for the condition of the bank at the time of its failure. It seems that if the claim could be brought against the estate it would be allowed, but Judge Boise has not deemed it proper to order Receiver to answer the claimant.

MAN TORN TO PIECES

Terrible Accident at Oregon City

Machinery Oiler Caught—Both Feet

Torn Completely Off—Lived Three Hours.

OREGON CITY, March 20.—(Special to the Journal).—J. Earl Faulkner, single, 25 years old, was killed at 10 o'clock this morning in the machine room of the Willamette Pulp & Paper Company here. He was operating the machinery, and was wearing a loose jumper, which caught in the shaft, whirling the unfortunate man several times around the shaft before the machinery could be stopped. Both feet were torn off, his left forearm broken, and the ribs on his right side were fractured, puncturing his lung and resulting in emphysema. He lived three hours. Faulkner's family lives in West Virginia.

SUDDEN DEATH OF S. L. HAYDEN

At His Home in This City Wednesday Night.

Hon. Samuel L. Hayden, former district attorney, and a prominent criminal lawyer, died Wednesday night after a few hours' illness, from an affection of the heart. He had been unwell for a few days, and consulted a physician, and in his last moments had two prominent Salem physicians attending him. He passed away at 10:15, in the presence of his family, Mrs. Hayden and his young son, and mother-in-law, Mrs. J. F. Miller.

Deceased was a son of Hon. Benj. Hayden, of this city, and was born in the old family homestead between Rola and Independence, April 18, 1867, and was nearly 35 years old. He began reading law when quite young at the law office of W. H. Holmes, and at the age of 21 was admitted to practice. He soon developed marked abilities, and made especial success of his criminal practice, so that in 1896 he was elected district attorney by a large Republican majority in this district.

His wide general education, finished off with a course at the State University, made him a more than average lawyer. He served with a great deal of ability as public prosecutor. He was a law partner of John H. McNary from 1894 to 1901, and recently of I. N. Maxwell, of this city, his surviving partner.

Politically S. L. Hayden, like his father, was always an active Democrat, and prominent in the councils of his party. He could have had almost any office in the gift of his party, and was named as a probable candidate for the office of joint senator with Linn.

In 1894 he was united in marriage with Miss Mamie Miller, of this city, a most happy union, blessed with one son. He is survived by his father and mother, one sister, Miss Estelle Hayden, and two brothers, William and McClellan.

As a member of the bar, in counsel with his friends, and in all his intercourse with the public, Samuel Hayden was a most pleasant man to meet. He was actuated by a high sense of honor, and his word passed for anything as good as his bond.

For some time past he has been occupied with the surveying and settlement of the old family estate, in the course of his labors suffering some exposures, and for the past few weeks complaining to his friends of pains in his breast. Neglect to attend to this and confidence in his usually robust physique caused his untimely death.

The funeral of Hon. S. L. Hayden will be held at the residence of the family at 2 p. m. Friday, and, as he was not a member of any church, will be conducted by the members of the Second Church of Christ, Scientist, of which Mrs. Hayden is a member, after which the Odd Fellows of this city will take charge of the burial. Deceased was a member of that order and several others. The pall bearers will be furnished by the Salem Bar Association. The services over the remains will be conducted by Mrs. John Q. Wilson, first reader of the Scientists, and the music will be arranged by Mrs. F. L. Willman and Mrs. W. A. Moores, and the services will consist of the following:

Reading of the ninety-first Psalm.
Hymn—"I Worship Thee, Sweet Will of God."
Silent prayer.
Hymn—"Shepherd Show Me How to Go."

STATE SOCIALIST MEET

Was Held Wednesday in Portland

Ticket Nominated with Some Difficulty

PORTLAND, March 20.—The Socialist party assembled in mass convention in the Foresters' Hall. A great deal of difficulty was experienced in filling the state ticket as far as it went, for of the 200 electors present during the day and evening, 199 had no desire to run for office. Those nominated accepted the honor only after 'suasion' had been used, and they had been convinced that their candidacy was for the good of the cause.

The convention was called to order by C. S. Harnish, chairman of the state central committee. On motion Mr. Harnish was made temporary chairman of the convention, and W. S. Richards, of Albany, temporary secretary. The vote in each case was unanimous, the 175 socialists present balloting in the affirmative.

After the adoption of the platform nominations for governor were called for by Chairman Harnish. A. D. Hale, of Albany, placed N. J. Judah, of Albany, in nomination, and paid a tribute to the abilities of the Socialist who has twice been elected recorder of the Capital City. Mr. Judah declined the nomination. His official duties required all his time, and he could not enter upon any campaign, except when his duties permitted him to work in the cause of Socialism.

Mr. Judah's remarks were well received, and a general feeling of regret was manifested that he was unable to
